English

“Cormorant Fishing on the Nagara River”

Cormorant fishing is a traditional fishing method of Japan used by usho (Cormorant Fishing Master), which is mentioned also in the Chronicles of Japan (Nihon Shoki) and Records of Ancient Matters (Kojiki). Cormorant fishing in the Nagara River has a history of more than 1,300 years, and its technique is designated as an Important Intangible Folk Cultural Property of Japan.

The official title of the current six cormorant fishermen is the Cormorant Fishing Master of the Board of the Ceremonies of the Imperial Household Agency. The title and occupation are inherited in their family.

Cormorant fishing has been loved by many people of culture. A master of haiku, Matsuo Basho, once read, “splendid, then ends in sorrow, the boat of cormorants,” and the great actor Charlie Chaplin visited the Nagara River twice and highly praised cormorant fishing.

Cormorant fishing season: May 11 – Oct. 15 (every year)

Closed around the time of the harvest moon. May also be canceled due to river conditions.

Cormorant fishing time: about 19:45 – 20:30

(Subject to changes due to seasons and events)

★From about 17:45: The fishing masters describe cormorant fishing at the Ukai viewing boat boarding area. (excluding certain days)
